

James Hayter

President of the International Federation of Landscape Architects

Thinking about Landscape

Public Lecture

LT1
Wednesday
12th September
School of Architecture
4:30pm Drinks + Nibbles
5:00pm Lecture

Redevelopment of past manufacturing and institutional sites in our cities compels us to readjust our understanding of nature – people – culture. An authentic design response is often most relevant if it comes from the prior history of the site and careful editing of the remaining fabric. The resultant narrative can transform the way we look at landscape and the role of the landscape architect as orchestrator of change.